

I do not want any more bothersome calls for business of any kind. If you let this one open other will follow. What's the use of having no call list if you open it and then they will see it as a mile. I truly love not being bothered by constant calls. My bank can send me letters for all I can want they have to say. So I say no way.